LIGHTMILE MEDIA PRESENTS.

The Inventor Lab.

A 60-Minute Black History Month Film and Community Discussion Experience

60 MINUTES | IN-PERSON OR VIRTUAL | CO-DESIGNED WITH YOUR TEAM

[60-MIN SESSION]

How the hour unfolds.

STEP 01 — 10 MIN

Context and Warning Signs

Cleveland, 1916: power, hierarchy, and the unheeded hazards behind the Waterworks tunnel disaster.

STEP 02 — 15 MIN

The Screening

The Inventor, a 15-minute film based on Garrett Morgan's response to the disaster.

STEP 03 — 35 MIN

Your Talkback, Your Way

Choose an interactive exercise or co-design a discussion.

[FOR THE 35-MINUTE TALKBACK]

Two ways to shape it.

OPTION 1

The Interactive Exercise

A short, 24-statement reflection on phones or laptops: how you feel, and what you do, in moments of tension. Each person sees a personal profile, then the room talks it through in small groups. A talking tool, not a test.

- G Innovator Garrett Morgan acts on unmet needs, even when overlooked.
- F Protector Frank Morgan defends others when disengaging is easy.
- M Bridge-Builder Mary Anne Morgan reaches across lines of conflict.
- C Advocate Claude Morgan opens doors for others.

OPTION 2

A Discussion We Design Together

Stakeholders from your organizations help shape a conversation connecting the film's themes to opportunities and obstacles in your community.

- Credit and visibility Who gets recognized for vital community work, then and now.
- Prejudgment Having your contribution devalued before you are heard.
- Equity in innovation The persistent disparity in venture capital reaching Black founders.
- Sustained civic presence Showing up and building community when institutions are slow to respond.

What everyone takes home: a shared language for honest, meaningful conversations about who gets credit, who gets heard, and how a community can act, long after the session ends.
